

BDS COVID-19 Policy

Bliss Dance Space will follow RPS and/or J.E.T.S.* guidelines for COVID-19. If necessary, we will move our lessons to all on-line, live instruction on the Zoom platform. Each 1.25 or 1.5 hour class that goes online will be divided into 1-hour of traditional movement and 15-30 minutes theory/anatomy or some other non-traditional study. This will ensure a good experience for students without risking burnout; it will also give dancers the opportunity to explore a deeper understanding of the art of dance. We will keep this plan flexible and may return to the original class structure to accommodate student interests. The format of classes that are 45 minutes long or shorter will remain the same.

Since the hallways outside of our studios is also the exit J.E.T.S. is recommending its clientele use until the pandemic is over, they are asking that our dancers NOT congregate in the hallway outside of our studios unless they are between classes or waiting for classes to begin. Parents are asked to please wait outside of the building to avoid congestion. An observation week will be scheduled in the fall and spring (dates TBD), COVID permitting.

Even though Bliss Dance Space is currently renting our space from JETS, I will still see to it that the floors and barres are wiped clean and disinfected between classes and at the end of the evening. I purchased metal barres to ease this process.
